Happy Feria del Caballo in Jerez!!

MESSAGE FROM OUR SCHOOL HEAD

Dear Sage College community,

I believe that every human being is the result of an accumulation of experiences that throughout one's life shape us to be what we are at this moment. That is why I believe that learning and training are continuous, infinite processes in which only at the end of our lives will stop. I myself had dreams as a child, then as a teenager and as a young man that were far from what I am today. Life has shaped my decisions until I became what I am today. I went through the phase of wanting to be an elite athlete, a fireman, a musician, a doctor and finally a teacher. I never studied to be a School Head (nor is there a specific degree to become one) but it was the accumulation of experiences and above all, people I admired that guided my path to what I am today.

As I look at our students at Sage College, their goals, aspirations and dreams, I can only recommend that in addition to always striving and giving one hundred percent in everything they do, they should be filled with experiences that enrich their path and life. One of our goals at the school is precisely this additional framework from which our students will benefit and which gave me so much in my youth. To think that in addition to acquiring knowledge and achieving the best academic results, they will be able to go on stage and perform the musical Grease musical, organise a charity initiative to help the needy or run in an athletic event representing their school. There are so many formative experiences happening in the lives of the pupils that I can only accompany them and encourage them to want to do and be more in these important years of their lives which, much to the regret of those of us who are no longer there, will never return.

Mr Wickham

Bussy Bees experiment with numbers

This week, the Busy Bees have become experts in number sense, experimenting and testing their ideas about how to write number sentences. In pairs, they have been exploring the different compositions of numbers they can find within whole amounts using pebbles, counters and classroom materials.

They have even been using their new information while eating lunch or playing outdoors. Together they discovered how to write their number sentences using +, =. The Busy Bees have had great fun, sharing their ideas and understanding the importance of cooperating to learn.

Amazing knowledge sharing, Busy Bees!

Year 4 this week

This week in Year 4 we have been a team of mathematicians! We have been learning about angles and trying to spot them in our environment. We spent this maths lesson hunting for different sized angles and photographing them, drawing angles with chalks, measuring them with a protractor and ordering them from smallest to largest.

I was really impressed when some of the children got creative and started making their own acute and obtuse angles with their bodies using a bit of gymnastics!

Maths certainly doesn't have to be all about sums and worksheets, and in year 4 we love getting outdoors!

JUNK KOUTURE FINALISTS INITIATIVES

Some Year 9 students were running a special market every break time to raise some money for their upcoming trip to Paris, to take part in the final of an International Fashion Designing competition.

In their market, you could find bracelets and necklaces made by them, some snacks and tickets for a big raffle, which will take place on Friday. It was a great opportunity for the school community to celebrate this amazing achievement and also a great way to support them.

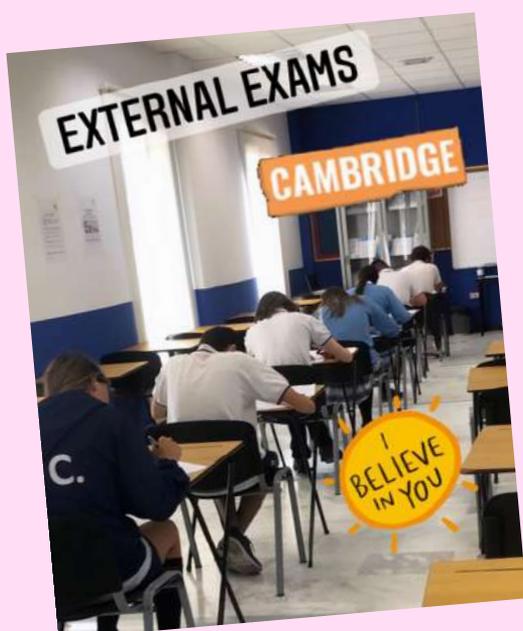

Good luck in Paris, girls!

INTERNATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Alonso Llordén Romero-Valdespino, a Year 10 student, spent the second term in our sister school in Switzerland, the International School of Central Switzerland (<https://iscs-zug.ch/>). As he explained, it was an opportunity to continue having high academic standards and to learn more about other cultures and meet new people, pointing out the great diversity of this international education.

OFFICIAL EXAMS

Our High School students continue to complete their official IGCSE, AS, A level and EvAU exams. A big applause to them for their big effort they are making.

SUPPORTING STUDENTS DURING EXAM PERIOD

In order to support our High School students during their exam period, last Friday, they had a session on time management, emotions and other important aspects during this key period of the school year. The session was developed together by the different year group tutors, Mr. Soto and our school psychologist, Ms. Bejarano.

SHAPING THE FUTURE

Congratulations to our Year 13 students Carlota, Carmen and Gonzalo, who have been accepted to study Biomedicine at Universidad Francisco de Vitoria.
